Comforting Times

The loss of a loved one is a very trying time. During this period of mourning, family and friends come together to reminisce and console one another. The comfort of food, friends and family is a warm beginning to set the healing process into motion. Please review the menu, which we have composed so that we may help you through this difficult time. Again we are sorry for your loss. And God Bless.

You may choose to have your event either at your social hall, place of worship, or in your home. We will gladly deliver to you in the local area, as well as care for any set up at no additional charge. A possibility is to have the repast at our facility located in the historic First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh.
